Most incredible STUNNING radio photography ever.By Cousin HepcatThe two Philip Collins radio picture-books, "Radios Redux" and "Radios: The Golden Age", are both ABSOLUTELY BREATHTAKINGLY STUNNING. I have never seen radios look so good, and I am a collector. You will want to rip every one of the pages out and frame them.These are mainly of the tabletop marbelized colored-plastic radios of the 1930's and 40's - the most good-looking of all the table radios, Ever. Catalin, bakelite, plaskon, and whatever other brand names they had for the plastics of the day - all seem to be represented.Both of these books are equally, truly, EYE CANDY.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. More than 150 exquisite photographs chronicle the ingenious, imaginative and sometimes eccentric characteristics of radios manufactured between the late 1920s--when the introduction of plastic gave birth to a revolution in design creativity--and the 1950s.
